

SPIELBERG ON THE SPOT

Sanyo's new VPC-C4 is a pocketable camcorder that features lots of thumb-friendly controls and automatic image stabilization, so you can shoot video as spontaneously as you might take pictures. It has a 5.8X optical zoom and a 10X digital zoom, plus a clever digital interpolation feature that transforms 4 megapixels into 8. The VPC-C4 can record up to an hour of high-quality MPEG-4 video to a 1GB Secure Digital card and comes with a docking station for playing back images and videos on your TV. The price will be less than $700.
